Infos
I have been writing about Internet security related stories for the past two decades, and maintain a daily blog on computer security and cybercrime at KrebsOnSecurity.com.

I was a reporter for The Washington Post from 1995 - 2009. I have a broad degree of knowledge about and interest in a range of Internet security topics. My main professional goal is to make the important computer security issues understandable, interesting, and timely for readers. My stories focus mainly on computer crime, and on the cybercrime underground.

La croissance des plateformes No-Code et Low-Code

En 2025, l'utilisation des solutions No-Code et Low-Code a augmenté. Selon une étude réalisée par Hostinger,

- 71 % des cadres et dirigeants français ont adopté ces technologies, contre seulement 25 % en 2020.

Ces plateformes permettent de créer des sites web et des applications sans nécessiter de compétences approfondies en programmation, facilitant ainsi le développement rapide et économique de projets numériques.
